De Gaulle's Party Is Triumphant in French Elections

PARIS (AP) — After France's biggest election landslide in 49 years President Charles de Gaulle had a mandate today to repair the economic damage of weeks of labor and social strife and to carry out a sweeping reform of France's industrial and educational systems.

The voters in the final round Sunday of the two-stage National Assembly elections gave the Gaullists and their allies a majority of more than 200 seats in the 487-seat legislature.

There has been no such landslide in French parliamentary history since the 1919 victory of a nationalist coalition. It was also a crushing setback to the Communists and other opposition forces.

Premier Georges Pompidou said the election results showed "defensive reaction" of the people "against totalitarianism." The campaign talk of Gaullism of "totalitarian communism," coming after the great student and labor upheaval in May, brought an overwhelming response from the middle class. But Pompidou warned that the government still faces "difficulties which are going to be enormous, difficulties that arise from the crisis and which we must now try to overcome."

Student disorders in the Latin Quarter of Paris Saturday and Sunday nights were a reminder of the problems facing the regime.

One of them is reform of the antiquated educational system, promised students after their rebellion in May touched off riots, disorders and three weeks of industrial strikes which paralyzed economic life.

Another major problem is the bill for widespread wage increases granted to end the strikes. The wage hikes also threaten inflation and higher prices which in turn would bring demands for still more in the pay envelopes.

Pompidou and De Gaulle have given no details of their future program to combat these problems. But they did hope that the proportions of the election victory would help restore international confidence in French stability and halt the run on the franc which has been cutting into the government's resources for weeks.

Kosygin Says Russia Ready To Discuss Issues with U.S.

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin announced today that the Soviet Union has proposed international talks on a wide range of disarmament issues, including a halt in the manufacture of nuclear weapons and reduction of nuclear weapon stockpiles.

The Russians also proposed discussions on "The limitation and subsequent reduction of means of delivery of strategic weapons."

Kosygin made his announcement at the signing of the treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons. Similar signing ceremonies also were scheduled later in the day in London and Washington.

The Soviet premier's proposal to talk about reducing the long-range rockets, bombers and submarines which can deliver nuclear bombs was given added urgency by a report from Communist sources in Moscow that Red China has developed its first intercontinental ballistic missile.

Kosygin said the Soviet government sent a memorandum to all other governments with nine proposals for disarmament and peaceful cooperation.

The proposals also included prohibition of the use of nuclear weapons, a proposal the Russians have made many times before.

Kosygin said the Soviet Union had proposed that the 17-nation disarmament committee, which is scheduled to meet in Geneva July 17, take up "as a matter of high priority a draft convention on the prohibition of the use of nuclear weapons. The Soviets also called for 'an exchange of opinions on convening of an international conference to sign an appropriate convention' on prohibition.

The Russians also proposed talks on these other matters:

1. Measures for stopping the manufacture of nuclear weapons and for the reduction and destruction of their stockpiles.
2. Limitation and subsequent reduction of means of delivery of strategic weapons.
3. Prohibition of flights beyond national borders of bombers carrying nuclear weapons, and limitations on the navigation zones of rocket-carrying submarines.
4. A ban on underground nuclear tests.
5. Prohibition of the use of chemical and bacteriological weapons.
6. Elimination of foreign military bases.
7. Measures for regional disarmament.
8. Peaceful uses of the sea bed and the ocean floor.

Kosygin's memo also attacked the United States, accusing it once again of aggression in Vietnam. In the past, Soviet leaders have contended that the Vietnam war is blocking progress on other East-West issues.

10 Guards Quit Ohio Penitentiary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ten guards have quit since the disastrous Ohio Penitentiary fire and riot a week ago and 13 reported sick over the weekends, Warden E. L. Maxwell said today.

He said the normal force of 279 guards now is 60 short although five new guards were employed. The prison was short 53 guards when the riot erupted.

The warden said the illness of 13 guards over a weekend "is about normal."

He said about 25 state highway patrolmen, including an investigating team, are helping maintain security in the ancient prison near downtown Columbus.

So far 82 of the 2,700 or more prisoners have been tentatively identified as leaders of the outbreak causing a million dollars in damage, he said.

Maxwell said many guards are working extra shifts and that conditions are back to normal in parts of the penitentiary.

A few keys taken from guards during the rioting have been found in the prison yard but Maxwell said locks are being changed as rapidly as possible nonetheless. He estimated the job was about 40 per cent complete. Missing keys will not fit any locks after the changes are made, he added.

Relinquishing their titles of "Little Miss and Mister Fourth of July" will be held at 7 p.m. on Wednesday. Winner of last year's title, "Miss Fourth of July" was Claudia Lough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Lough of Ashville. Her attendants were Dianne Brown of Ashville and Fay Young, Amanda.

A FULL day of activity is planned on Thursday, July 4. The big parade will be held at 11 a.m. "Let Freedom Ring" is the theme for the parade, according to George Myers, parade chairman.

The parade will include floats, marching bands, pets, little leaguers, scouts and comics.

A band concert will be held in the park at 12:30 following the parade. A tractor pull and entertainment will be held during the afternoon prior to the antique car parade and judging at 5 p.m. Fireworks at 11 p.m. will climax the annual festivities.

The midway, games and eating stands will be located in the park throughout the three-day celebration.

Solo Sailor Almost Home

PORTSMOUTH, England (AP) — Lone yachtsman Alec Rose, almost home from his 28,000-mile voyage around the world in his ketch Lively Lady, sailed slowly up the English Channel today, swigging champagne and escorted by two British Navy minesweepers.

The bespectacled, 59-year-old grocer is expected to bring his yacht into Portsmouth, his home, Tuesday after 317 days at sea.

The minesweeper delivered a basket of fruit and bottles of champagne to Rose Sunday.

Rose left Portsmouth last July 16.

Arson Possible In Cincy Blaze

CINCINNATI (AP) — Three families fled unhurt from a fire early today in their multiple family dwelling in Cincinnati's Clifton area.

Fire Marshal James Ebersole said there was a "suspicion" of arson. He said it appeared two separate fires had been set in a third floor apartment.

Damage was estimated at $3,400.

B52s Hit Red Artillery Bases in North

SAIGON (AP) — American B52 bombers raided North Vietnam today for the first time in nearly two months and also dropped thousands of tons of explosives on secret Viet Cong bases in the provinces around Saigon.

Twenty-five of the U.S. Air Force's biggest bombers streaked over the northern half of the demilitarized zone and the southernmost part of North Vietnam to bomb coastal artillery sites which have been shelling U.S. destroyers and cruisers operating off the coast.

The key strike inside North Vietnam was around Cape Lay, 11 miles above the allied base at Gio Linh.

Architect's Fee Prompts Children's Home Discussion

A fee of $1,740 from Gene Schwartz, Chillicothe architect employed to draw plans for a new children's home, prompted a heated discussion today in the Pickaway County Commissioners office.

Schwartz was employed by the county solons to draw the plans for a proposed new home this spring. He was told to "hold up" by Commission Chairman Wayne Hines after the May primary when commissioner Lloyd Melvin indicated that he would no longer support a new children's home program.

Melvin at that time said that he did not think it would be fair to the people or his successor to commit the county to such an expenditure when he was leaving office.

The bill submitted by Schwartz today listed a total estimated architect's fee of $11,600. The Chillicothe architect stated he had completed 15 per cent of the planning and asked prompt payment of the $1,760.

Charles Morris, who is of the opinion that the present structure should be remodeled rather than a new home built, told his fellow commissioners today that prompt action of some sort should be taken.

"We must do something with the children's home. We can't let it be closed down and not do something to take care of these children," Morris said today.

"If you (Melvin or Hines) will take off the motion to build a new home, I will make one to repair the old home," Morris said.

Neither Hines nor Melvin offered any legislative action to rescind their motion to employ Schwartz as architect for a new home.

"We've paid three men to tell us how much it would cost to remodel the children's home and the cheapest estimate was about $100,000," Hines noted.

Schwartz presented an estimate of $143,000 to repair the old structure. His estimate of a new home was $160,000.

Of Schwartz' estimate to repair, $90,000 was earmarked for new covering for floors.

Berkeley, Calif. Sealed Off By Police after Outbreaks

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A curfew virtually sealed off this University of California community during the night after police broke up a mass demonstration freeing Mayor Walter Johnson from a hostile crowd.

Johnson was pushed and spat upon by some who recognized him after he had gone to the gathering of 1,000 to 1,500 to assess the situation.

It was after his encounter with the crowd at the Civic Center Park about 300 yards from City Hall that the 7 p.m.-to 6 a.m. curfew was extended from a 56-block area to the entire city.

Police arrested 50 to 60 persons on charges ranging from disturbing the peace to looting, resisting arrest and carrying illegal weapons.

There were no reports of injuries during the night but police said 31 demonstrators and 11 officers had been injured on the previous two nights of demonstrations.

The dusk-to-dawn curfew sealed off the community of 120,000 to all except those who could show reason for entering.

Police Chief William Beall said most of those arrested were not from Berkeley and to his knowledge no students from the University of California at Berkeley were taken into custody.

Police reinforced by 450 state highway patrolmen, with units from nearby cities standing by, broke up a demonstration that had formed at Civic Center just outside the curfew area.

There were no reports of tear gas used, as had been the case in the more violent clashes on Friday and Saturday nights.

Off-Course Plane Carried 214 Soldiers

WASHINGTON (AP) — An airliner carrying 214 U.S. servicemen is being held today on a Soviet island in the Pacific Ocean after being forced to land by MIG fighters.

The chartered DC-8 was on its way to Vietnam from McChord Air Base in Seattle, Wash., Sunday when, the U.S. government said, it strayed off course and was forced to land on Iturup Island, a part of the Kuril chain in the northern Pacific.

The State Department immediately contacted the Soviet embassy in Washington and urged the quick release of the plane its passengers and the 17 crewmen.

A Japanese air force radar station said it began tracking the plane at 7:30 p.m. EDT Sunday and warned the pilot he was on a course that would cross the Soviet-held island.

The pilot replied, "We cannot alter our course." Japanese sources said, indicating the plane already was under MIG escort.

The sources said the plane was tracked another five minutes before it disappeared from radar screens at a position about 30 miles south of Iturup Island.

U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson said in Moscow he was told by Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov the incident is under investigation.

The Pentagon said the pilot of the chartered Seaboard-World Airlines Jet, Joseph Tosolini, talked by radio with another American aircraft during the incident.

Ray Gunter Quits Cabinet In Britain

LONDON (AP) — More trouble loomed today for Prime Minister Harold Wilson in the wake of the Cabinet resignation of Ray Gunter, one of the Labor government's closest links with its trade union supporters.

The blunt-spoken Gunter, who served nearly four years in the cabinet as labor minister and recently at the power ministry, submitted his resignation Sunday night with a terse note that said:

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson plans to fly to El Salvador next Saturday to confer with five Central American presidents, Latin American diplomatic sources said here Monday.

The reports said a number of Viet Cong cadres already have slipped into Saigon to coordinate underground antigovernment forces and make lists of political leaders, security and police agents marked for arrest or assassination when the attack is launched.

Police sources also heard reports that the Viet Cong planned to intensify the shelling of Saigon to create confusion, undermine government prestige and incite the citizens to "struggle for peace" and demand that the South Vietnamese government negotiate with the National Liberation Front.

The sources could not vouch for the reliability of the reports, but all were being carefully checked. Allied officials responsible for the defense of Saigon said precautionary measures were being taken where necessary.

Allied troops patrolling Saigon's outer defense ring today killed 18 Viet Cong in a day-long battle in Tay Ninh, where the heaviest troop concentrations have been reported. Two U.S. infantrymen of the 25th Division were killed and four were wounded.

In another engagement 29 miles northwest of Saigon, U.S. paratroopers intercepted 200 of the enemy moving under cover of darkness and killed 38 in a three-hour battle. Twenty-two paratroopers were wounded.

Off-Course Plane Carried 214 Soldiers

WASHINGTON (AP) — An airliner carrying 214 U.S. servicemen to Vietnam is being held today on a Soviet island in the Pacific Ocean after being forced to land by MIG fighters.

The chartered DC-8 was on its way to Vietnam from McChord Air Base in Seattle, Wash., Sunday when, the U.S. government said, it strayed off course and was forced to land on Iturup Island, a part of the Kuril chain in the northern Pacific.

The State Department immediately contacted the Soviet embassy in Washington and urged the quick release of the plane its passengers and the 17 crewmen.

A Japanese air force radar station said it began tracking the plane at 7:30 p.m. EDT Sunday and warned the pilot he was on a course that would cross the Soviet-held island.

The pilot replied, "We cannot alter our course," Japanese sources said, indicating the plane already was under MIG escort.

The sources said the plane was tracked another five minutes before it disappeared from radar screens at a position about 30 miles south of Iturup Island.

Ray Gunter Quits Cabinet In Britain

LONDON (AP) — More trouble loomed today for Prime Minister Harold Wilson in the wake of the Cabinet resignation of Ray Gunter, one of the Labor government's closest links with its trade union supporters.

The blunt-spoken Gunter, who served nearly four years in the cabinet as labor minister and recently at the power ministry, submitted his resignation Sunday night with a terse note that said:

"I have the feeling that the best service I can render to the folk whence I came is that I should obtain the freedom of the back benches and of the platforms in the country."

Gunter had been associated with a cabinet faction which has chafed under Wilson's leadership. One of the most notable of that group, former Foreign Minister George Brown, resigned in March, charging that Wilson had assumed too much personal control over government operations.

The Times of London said Gunter's resignation reflected "disillusionment . . . in important sections of the labor movement."

Britain's trade unions have become increasingly restive in recent months, particularly because of the government's hold-down on wages.

The go-slow strike by the nation's railway workers entered its second week today. Pressing for higher wages, the workers are refusing to work overtime.

Rail service came to a complete standstill Sunday when more than 250,000 union members staged a one-day strike. Trains resumed slowly at dawn today but not before hordes of weekend vacationers were stranded.

Wind Gusts Tip Canoes, Kayaks

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Twenty-four persons were rescued from Lake Michigan after winds gusted to 30 miles an hour and overturned a flock of canoes and kayaks during a race Sunday.

There were no injuries. Some of the competitors were recovered by power boats a mile from shore.

Coast Guard Auxiliary spokesmen said the 42-boat race was interrupted by waves three feet high. The shallow boats, he said, "started going over like peanuts."

Injuries Are Fatal

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A Dayton man died Sunday night after he was injured earlier in the day. He fell from a railroad overpass just north of Dayton. Police said the victim, Thomas Evans, 42, apparently had climbed upon the overpass to see a minor traffic accident on the street below.

Teens See Need for Recreational Facilities

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the fifth in a series on juvenile delinquency in Pickaway County.

Sixteen teenagers from schools in the county were asked to comment on the local situation of juvenile delinquency.

"It is increasing, but it is increasing all over. It is part of the times," stated Robert Tootle of Circleville in expressing an opinion most of the others agreed with.

ROBERT TOOTLE

But the term "juvenile delinquent" isn't used as lightly by these students as by their parents. "A juvenile delinquent is someone who breaks the law two or three times, not a first offender," said Dick Thornton of Circleville. The exception would be if the offense were a major one.

DICK THORNTON

Cause of the increase of juvenile crime was tied by these young adults to the lack of recreation facilities and lack of parental concern for offsprings.

"THERE are more pressures on adolescents today than before and the kids need some release. If there is no good recreation for them they will do other things for relief," commented Steve Nelson of Circleville.

Lack of respect for the legal system was another reason given by the students for increased anti-social activities in the county.

for us in particular, interrupted Lambert. We get arrested for speeding, but our parents do the same thing and are often overlooked," he continued.

Treatment of young offenders after arrest was another sore point among the teenagers questioned.

CRAIG LAMBERT

If your father is influential you may never see a court, or the sentence is often lightened if you do, remarked Lambert.

The court should base its decision on the offender involved, continued Lambert. You have got to take time to get to know the offender as a person and base the decision on him as an individual rather than on the book or who his parents are, he concluded.

Institutionalizing the young offenders was felt to be ineffective by these teenagers. Those sent away come back worse than when they left, they agreed.

Recreational activities were emphasized as a help to alleviate crime. Many of the juvenile crimes take place either because a young person has a lot of time with nothing to do, or because when he does go away for recreation it is so far removed from home that he feels he can do things he would not do normally and not have anyone back home find out, if he gets caught.

emphasized, though the potential of a YMCA was questioned. "A 'Y' is considered 'Mickey Mouse' by some; it would help a lot of kids but not the juvenile delinquents because they probably wouldn't go," commented Tootle.

The so-called "hoods" wouldn't have the money or like an organized "Y" so they wouldn't join, agreed Thornton. "The 'hoods' don't associate with middle class," remarked Nelson. Not that this is a class conscious community, he continued, but teenagers tend to associate as social groups on their own levels and make their own friends.

Auto Crashes Take 22 Lives Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

High-speed police chases involving three deaths, a rash of fatal accidents killing motorcycle riders and a wreck snuffing out the lives of three children sent Ohio's weekend traffic toll skyrocketing to one of the year's highest.

At least 22 persons were killed in Ohio between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday.

The highest toll of the year occurred the last week in February, when 24 died. Two weeks ago, 23 persons were killed and 22 died in accidents the last weekend in April.

Among the accidents were two in the Cleveland area involving police cruisers.

William Frederick, 41, Brunswick, and Robert Wolfe, 33, Valley City, were killed early Sunday when a Strongsville police cruiser pursuing another vehicle slammed into their car.

In Elyria, Arthur Combs, 30, North Ridgeville, was injured fatally late Saturday when a stolen auto being pursued by police slammed into his car.

Morris contended that an expenditure of about $40,000 would repair the old building enough to pass state specifications. He claimed that remodeling could be done over a period of years.

"Over the last 10 years we have spent $50,000 for the repair and maintenance of that old building," Melvin told Morris. "What you are saying is to spend $50,000 this year, $40,000 next year and $40,000 the year after that," Melvin told Morris.

"You're just fooling the people if you tell them that you can remodel cheaper than you can build a new home."

Hines stated that in 20 years the county would save enough to pay for a new building in maintenance and repair costs.

"Within two or three weeks we will take some kind of action on the children's home," Hines said at the conclusion of the discussion.

See Business Slackening Off Rest of Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — A panel of business economists says the country's current economic boom will slacken in the second half of this year.

However, Tilford C. Graines, vice president and economist for Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., of New York, says the demand for credit will remain high and "interest rates should remain close to present high levels for most of the balance of this year."

He said the nation's inflation and balance of payments problems are so severe that the Federal Reserve System will continue to keep a tight rein on credit until it's convinced higher taxes are slowing the economy.

He was one of six economists who appeared Sunday at a business outlook conference sponsored by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Robert Yelton, 28, of Cincinnati was killed early today as he either fell or stepped into the path of an automobile on River Road (U.S. 50).

The driver of the car sped away and is being sought.

Police said a 14-year-old boy told them he saw Yelton leaning against a pole and that he suddenly stepped or fell into the street. The only description the boy was able to give of the car was that it was red and had a loud muffler.

Cigarette Ads Face New Trouble

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission will issue a report this week that favors barring all cigarette advertising from radio and television, says Newsweek magazine.

The magazine said Sunday the decision was 3 to 2 to recommend an end to an estimated $250 million a year in the tobacco industry's radio and TV spending.

TFC Chairman Paul Rand Dixon said he would have no comment on the Newsweek story. In answer to a question, he said that the FTC had no legal power to bar cigarette advertising.

Tax Cuts Expected To Boost Sale of U.S. Made Goods

PARIS (AP) — Sales of American goods abroad should get a badly needed boost from wide-ranging tariff cuts made today in 20 countries as a result of the 1967 Kennedy Round agreements.

But emergency measures decreed by President Charles de Gaulle's government as a result of the May upheaval cast a shadow over prospects for freer world trade.

Experts cannot estimate in dollars how much advantage the United States will get. There are too many small elements that could change the results. But the increased trade could help substantially toward reducing the $500 million annual deficit in America's foreign exchange account.

It is this deficit that drains away American gold reserves and makes people wonder about the future of the dollar.

American exports have been hampered by rising costs at home which have made them more expensive and less competitive in world markets.

The last figures compiled show that for two months the United States has been buying more goods abroad than it sells. This is unusual and discouraging for U.S. economists.

Normally American exports are much greater than imports. The deficits in the past have come from Vietnam war spending, foreign aid, and the money paid out by U.S. investors and travelers abroad. The Kennedy Round cuts took four years of negotiation. They are the most far-reaching ever undertaken in trade negotiations. U.S. experts estimate that they will eventually cut tariffs by an average of 35 per cent on $32 billion worth of goods now moving every year among non-Communist countries. Of this, more than $8 billion worth are American industrial exports.

Farm products are not so much affected.

To prevent sudden shocks to industry, the cuts were spaced out over five years—20 per cent a year. The United States made its first cut last Jan. 1. Other countries decided to make two cuts today, including Britain, Japan, Canada, the six members of the European Common Market France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg, as well as Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, Spain, Brazil, India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Nigeria and Trinidad-Tobago.

The six Common Market countries today are also ending their last tariffs against one another's industrial goods and unifying their tariffs on imports from outside the economic community.

The last transmission was at 7:42 p.m. when the pilot reported he had shut off his engines, the Pentagon said.

The Defense Department, in announcing that the plane had been forced to land, said the aircraft, chartered from Seaboard by the Military Airlift Command, had strayed off its course enroute to Yokota, Japan.

In New York, headquarters for Seaboard-World, a spokesman for the charter line said the crew had flown the route several times and "we don't see how it could have been off course, unless there were some extraordinary factors."

Seaboard identified the rest of the crew as Henry Treger, copilot; Earl Scott, flight engineer and Lawrence Guernon, navigator.

The plane also carried several in-flight checkers and stewardesses.

walls and to lower the ceilings, Morris said. However, it did not include repair of the roof, which Hines said is badly in need of repair.

Morris contended that an expenditure of about $40,000 would repair the old building enough to pass state specifications. He claimed that remodeling could be done over a period of years.

"Over the last 10 years we have spent $50,000 for the repair and maintenance of that old building," Melvin told Morris.

"What you are saying is to spend $50,000 this year, $40,000 next year and $40,000 the year after that," Melvin told Morris.

"You're just fooling the people if you tell them that you can remodel cheaper than you can build a new home."

Hines stated that in 20 years the county would save enough to pay for a new building in maintenance and repair costs.

"Within two or three weeks we will take some kind of action on the children's home," Hines said at the conclusion of the discussion.

See Business Slackening Off Rest of Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — A panel of business economists says the country's current economic boom will slacken in the second half of this year.

However, Tilford C. Graines, vice president and economist for Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., of New York, says the demand for credit will remain high and "interest rates should remain close to present high levels for most of the balance of this year."

He said the nation's inflation and balance of payments problems are so severe that the Federal Reserve System will continue to keep a tight rein on credit until it's convinced higher taxes are slowing the economy.

He was one of six economists who appeared Sunday at a business outlook conference sponsored by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Probe Death Of Cincinnati Man

CINCINNATI (AP) — Robert Yelton, 28, of Cincinnati was killed early today as he either fell or stepped into the path of an automobile on River Road (U.S. 50).

The driver of the car sped away and is being sought.

Police said a 14-year-old boy told them he saw Yelton leaning against a pole and that he suddenly stepped or fell into the street. The only description the boy was able to give of the car was that it was red and had a loud muffler.

Cigarette Ads Face New Trouble

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission will issue a report this week that favors barring all cigarette advertising from radio and television, says Newsweek magazine.

The magazine said Sunday the decision was 3 to 2 to recommend an end to an estimated $250 million a year in the tobacco industry's radio and TV spending.

TFC Chairman Paul Rand Dixon said he would have no comment on the Newsweek story. In answer to a question, he said that the FTC had no legal power to bar cigarette advertising.

the pilot of the Seaboard plane reported about 7:20 p.m. that MIG fighters had intercepted him and was forcing him to land at what appeared to be a MIG base on an island.

At 7:39 p.m., the Pentagon said, the Seaboard plane radioed that it had landed without injury to anyone on board and without damage to the plane.

The last transmission was at 7:42 p.m. when the pilot reported he had shut off his engines, the Pentagon said.

The Defense Department, in announcing that the plane had been forced to land, said the aircraft, chartered from Seaboard by the Military Airlift Command, had strayed off its course enroute to Yokota, Japan.

In New York, headquarters for Seaboard-World, a spokesman for the charter line said the crew had flown the route several times and "we don't see how it could have been off course, unless there were some extraordinary factors."

Seaboard identified the rest of the crew as Henry Treger, copilot; Earl Scott, flight engineer and Lawrence Guernon, navigator.

The plane also carried several in-flight checkers and stewardesses.

What does the apron-wearer do with her time, now that industrial research and gadgetry have relieved the average housewife of most of her laborious kitchen work? Why, work in the kitchen, of course.

A husband's eyes may bulge at the suggestion the housewife's time clock shows she spends more time in the kitchen than did Grandma, but such may be the case.

Certainly, Grandma's chores were different than those performed by her successor, but there are more revolutionary forces guiding kitchen habits than precooked foods and electric can openers. One of the strangest forces is the condensation of modern homes.

Earlier generations grew up and worked in roomier abodes which frequently boasted special rooms devoted to sewing, washing, cooking, dining and courting. Many of these functions are now concentrated in the room housing the sink, the stove, the cupboards and a glittering array of chrome-plated hardware designed to free womankind from it all.

A survey has been made by a manufacturer which concludes today's typical housewife enjoys her kitchen so much she doesn't want to leave it. It has become her home headquarters in which all activities originate.

This revelation substantiates the realization that the kitchen is by long odds the most expensive room in the house.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — In the belated and sometimes frantic effort to sweep away the paper that now clogs the flow of data among the nation's brokers, a familiar financial district character is being put into gradual retirement.

This is the little old man who scurries through the teeming alleys and narrow streets of the financial district here, poor as a pensioner, but momentarily possessing many thousands of dollars in securities.

This message—there are hundreds of his type—always can be spotted because his clothing isn't as fine as that worn by most financial men. But some people feel that, relative to his minimum wage, he is as hard a worker as any in the financial district.

Now the impersonal efficiency of electronic computers, the advent of the technological age on Wall Street, will handle much of his work and do so with more than his shuffling speed. Stocks theoretically will be more secure also.

The reduction in numbers of these messengers—and the first fundamental assault on the paperwork problem—comes with the beginning of what is called the Central Certificate Service of the New York Stock Exchange.

When this service is in full use, sometime near the end of 1968, it will mean that a great majority of the certificates that messengers now carry from brokerage house to brokerage house will be contained in one depository.

When a trade is made a computer merely will make a bookkeeping entry, adding the stock to the buying brokers account and subtracting it from that of the seller's. Since the stock certificates never will leave the big vaults, the messenger no longer will be needed to rush certificates from broker to broker.

This doesn't mean that all physical transfers will be ended, for not all stock certificates are held in "street name," meaning that although owned by individuals they are left for safekeeping with the broker.

Although such certificates make up only 15 per cent of the shares listed on the Big Board, they are by far the most active ones. In fact, they account for most of the activity; they are owned by traders rather than long-term investors.

Since these shares are so active they also account for a great deal of the paperwork that, by its volume, is ensnaring the nation's financial communities, making attempts for one time deliveries mere futile gestures and reducing bookkeeping to a dangerously chaotic mess.

By keeping the certificates in common vaults—the locations of which the exchange declines to divulge—it is hoped that brokers will be relieved of the burden of storing, inspecting, counting and recording shares. Primitive disorder will have been replaced by modern efficiency.

The storing of all street-name certificates through the letter C has been completed. And as more certificates are deposited each working day, more physical transfers will be eliminated.

Eventually, almost all street-name certificates of the New York and American exchanges will be included. And some day, it is hoped, over-the-counter stocks—those not listed on an exchange—will be stored in the depository.

The next step in this automated bookkeeping will further reduce paperwork, and with it the number of menial jobs. This step is to replace the certificate itself; after all, why print fancy certificates to lie dusty in vaults?

The solution is fraught with problems. First, the laws of many states must be changed, just as they were changed before the Central Certificate

Service was activated. But there is much more also.

Ideally, what is required is a piece of paper that can be read by a machine, which is acceptable as absolute proof of ownership and which cannot easily be counterfeited.

That's a big order. It shows just how heavily the financial markets have leaned on the little old messenger.

Try and Stop Me

GROUCHO MARX hotly denies that he's a chain smoker. "I always wanted to be," he admits, "but I couldn't keep the chain lit." That cigar he's eternally chomping on is strictly a stage prop; he rarely lights it.

One of those British enterprisers that picks mates for lonely hearts via computers, ran into a spot of hard luck the other day when a chap named Davis sought a girl friend. He paid the fee demanded, and the machine whirled through a file of some 30,000 possibilities, finally settling on a bonnie lass named Barbara.

A date involving Mr. Davis and Barbara was arranged, and the pair met in a designated hotel lobby. One look was enough to convince both of them that a slight mistake had been made by the computer. Mr. Davis and Barbara had been married to each other for six years and divorced just three months previous. The grounds: utter incompatibility.

Mark Twain had a very forgiving nature, particularly regarding one book publisher who, in his opinion, had swindled him outrageously. "He has been dead a quarter of a century now," wrote Twain in his autobiography. "I feel only compassion for him—and if I could send him a fan, I would!"

When will the new drug that is being tested for asthma be available?

Each week I devote one column to "Hopeful News in Medicine" in an effort to bring encouragement to many people with chronic illnesses. The response to a new drug, disodium cromoglycate, that is being tested, has been understandably great because there are so many people all over the world who suffer from asthma.

The preliminary reports about the drug has called forth a great deal of enthusiasm by the doctors who are using it experimentally. My purpose in bringing it to the attention of my readers is to let them know that in hospitals and laboratories all over the country there are scientists who are devoting themselves to such important problems.

A new drug being used in its trial stages is never available for general use. Only after the drug is found to be exceedingly safe and free from toxic effects does the Pure Food and Drug Administration give its sanction for general distribution.

Patients frequently call their doctor's attention to a new, experimental drug like this one hoping that they can become part of the testing program. Their anxiety about their condition makes many offer themselves as volunteers for trial studies.

When this or any drug is finally found to be free of all dangers, it is reported in the scientific journals and then becomes known to physicians everywhere. Doctors then carefully choose the particular kind of case that might benefit from its use. When new information is released I shall again write about this drug and the inhalator that was devised to relieve the spasms of asthma.

Can headache be caused by overexertion? The kinds and causes of headaches are so numerous and so complex that no single statement about any type of headache can be made without complete knowledge of a person's general condition. Headache is probably one of the most common symptoms in the presence, or the absence, of physical or emotional disease. Headache, as a symptom, is particularly peculiar because of the vague terms used to describe almost any feeling or sensation in the head.

Four University of Manchester students were fined for painting the stones of Stonehenge, Britain's most famous prehistoric monument, with slogans advertising a charity week. Sounds like the work of a bunch of rockheads.

Charleston, W. Va., recently put a stop to plans of three persons there who sought to be "buried alive" for 102 days. Guess the city fathers just didn't dig the idea.

Education was benefitted by more than $34 million during the New York state lottery's first year. That's good arithmetic!

An earache, a toothache, disturbances of vision, or an emotional upset can all be called "a headache," when in reality they refer to a "pain in the head."

There are very definite headaches that are caused by exercise, exertion, coughing and even bending in an unusual position.

When doctors get to know their patients well, they understand what patients mean when they complain of headache. They immediately seek to rule out migraine, sinus infection, eye strain, neuralgia and toxic reactions to drugs.

Headaches can be severely distressing and even those that are not caused by emotional upsets can be responsible for psychological disturbances that are far worse than the headache itself.

It takes a great deal of sleuthing to uncover the exact reason for a headache. Headache sufferers sometimes make notes of everything they eat, or do and try to find a relationship between them and the onset of a headache. Only when the exact cause is brought to light can specific drugs, antihistamine and pain relieving medicines be used to control it.

Occasionally, special insight into one's emotional state is necessary to learn why a headache happens.

Following a car too closely may bring his carbon monoxide into your own car.

Ohio Crime Commission Urges State Police Agency

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Crime Commission has called for establishment of a special statewide police agency.

In an interim report submitted Friday to Gov. James A. Rhodes, the commission said such an agency could coordinate attacks on organized crime by acting as an intelligence unit for all law enforcement agencies in Ohio.

The commission also called for limited use of evidence obtained by wiretapping and told the governor it will propose legislation to authorize court-controlled electronic eavesdropping. Shortly after submitting its report, the commission, in the wake of Monday's devastating fires and riot at Ohio Penitentiary, said there is an "annual continuing requirement for approximately 500 university-trained personnel in the field of corrections, probation and associated social work."

The commission also expressed concern with "the lack of trained prison personnel" and low pay scales for corrections personnel.

The commission issued its report and additional statements as Gov. Rhodes and other officials moved to reduce the number of convicts at Ohio Penitentiary by placing them in other institutions. Rhodes said the penitentiary will gradually be reduced in population through reassignments of inmates to other penal facilities.

State officials also moved to expedite construction of a proposed new $25 million prison in Lucasville, Scioto County, to replace the old penitentiary in Columbus.

The state plans to start asking for bids on the vast project July 15.

When the Lucasville prison is finally ready for occupancy, possibly in late 1970 or early 1971, the old prison in Columbus will be razed.

The Dominoes Have Fallen

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

When a dark horse, Paul O'Dwyer, can defeat two machine candidates to become the Democratic nominee for U.S. Senator in New York State merely by attaching himself to Gene McCarthy's coattails and declaring himself a peace candidate, it means that our Vietnamese engagement has been lost. From here on in every single Presidential aspirant, whether his name be McCarthy or Humphrey, Nixon or Rockefeller, will be running on a peace platform of sorts. As a people we have declared not our inability to win the war but our unwillingness to pay the price that would be demanded of us to do it.

We have heard of the domino theory in Southeast Asia. But with the McCarthy-O'Dwyer victory in the New York primaries a domestic domino theory took over. Vice President Hubert Humphrey's reaction was to come out for an immediate cease-fire in Vietnam in order to create a "positive atmosphere" for the Paris peace talks. Richard Nixon said nothing directly, but Republican Senator Mark Hatfield, the Oregon dove, let it be known that he had been won over to Nixon's candidacy, which could only mean that Nixon had promised Hatfield to get us out of Vietnam if he wins in November. Nelson Rockefeller, irked by Hatfield's commitment, made some sour remarks that could only indicate that he wants the Republican dove vote all to himself. So all the dominoes have toppled; there isn't a hawk in the running for President.

Since the American people want it that way, there is no use arguing against it. You didn't have to be a Jeane Dixon to see the handwriting on the wall even so far back as the time of the Gulf of Tonkin resolution. The Johnson Administration always flinched at giving our military leaders the authority to apply classic principles to a war that could only be settled by a series of classic maneuvers. When we refused to mine Haiphong harbor we abdicated our right to make use of a blockade. When we elected to fight the war on South Vietnamese territory, we gave notice to the enemy that he would be insured against flanking movements in Cambodia and Laos and safe against any Inchon amphibious operation directed at him from the South China Sea. The enemy was assured at all times of a steady flow of weapons and food from Soviet Russia and Red China.

General Westmoreland gave the whole show away when, at the time of his departure from Vietnam, he said the war couldn't be won in a "classic sense." What he meant by this was that the war couldn't be won unless the enemy decided to stop fighting. But why should Ho Chi Minh give up when he had every reason in the world to believe that we would never do what it takes to put North Vietnam out of business as a military power?

Forced to endure a war that revolts common sense, the American people have given their political candidates the signal to get us out of it no matter who is elected. So, from here on in, McCarthy, Humphrey, Nixon, and Rockefeller will all be singing variants of the same tune. Even Ronald Reagan, if he should turn out to be a Republican crash choice at Miami Beach, will have to go to the people as an "end the war" candidate.

All of which means, of course, that we shall go into 1969 with a foreign policy that is in a state of complete ruin. Every other nation in the world, whether large or small, will be seeking new alliances, or new sources of internal cohesion and strength. Maybe it will be all for the best; as the example of the State of Israel proves, nations that put their trust in their own skills, integrity and will to persist are often better off than those that depend on somebody else's umbrella. Moreover, the ferment in Czechoslovakia, Hungary, and Rumania and the continuing shambles inside Red China may keep the Communists from immediately exploiting their victory in Vietnam.

Since it has come to this, we ought to be asking the major Presidential candidates their ideas of a foreign policy for the new day. Which one of the candidates will be able to give West Germany and Japan, Thailand and Israel, Venezuela and Brazil, Spain and India the reassurance that we can reform our lines and keep at least some of the dominoes from falling? Nobody has talked much about this as yet, but it could be the most important question that could be asked.

Jackie Gleason

By BOB THOMAS
AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Why do people like Ed Sullivan, Lucille Ball, Red Skelton and myself stay on the air year after year?" asked Jackie Gleason.

He supplied his own answer: "Because we appeal to the mature audience."

The globe-shaped comedian was in an analytical mood as he attacked his simple lunch of prime ribs of beef and two bottles of beer. He asked for a tall glass, but all the Paramount commissary could provide was a glass for ice cream sodas. He accepted it uncomplainingly, commenting, "I have drunk beer from every conceivable vessel."

Gleason was at the studio for filming of his second movie in a row, "How to Commit Marriage." He was working solo prior to the return of costar Bob Hope, sidelined at the picture's start because of a recurrence of his eye ailment.

Reflecting on TV longevity, Gleason observed that the way to survive is to appeal to the older folks: "They're always at home, and they'll tune you in because they know they can count on a regular standard of entertainment."

"When we do 'The Honey-mooners,' we get both the kids and the adults. For the variety shows, the audience is mostly adult—unless I put on one of the pop music acts, which I don't like to do."

"I think it's tough to last when you aim at the younger audience only. Take 'Laugh-in.' Don't get me wrong—I think Dan Rowan and Dick Martin have done a terrific job with that show; They've used the 'heilzapoppin' technique to great advantage."

"But how are they going to keep it up; these kids nowadays are so sharp, so quick to catch on, that every-gag, every gesture registers in their minds. They can repeat all the jokes and catchlines, and they do. But how soon are they going to tire of those things and want something else?"

Gleason himself is planning no innovations for the coming season, although he is aiming for strong names as guest stars. It will be more of the same, and judging from his consistently high ratings, there's no need to change.

The Gleason technique, as he describes it, appears to be even more casual than Dean Martin's. Dino amazed his fellow stars by devoting no more than one day to his variety hour. Gleason said that he often reports to his show just in time to have a hair trim and get into costume.

"For 'The Honey-mooners' we might have a one-hour run-through," he added. "Fortunately, I'm a fast study, and so are Art Carney, Sheila McRae and Betty Kean. We use cue cards only for the songs; it's too tough to learn the lyrics for four songs every show."

"Otherwise I don't use cue cards or Teleprompters. I don't believe in them. Most of the actors on shows nowadays don't talk to each other anymore—they're too busy staring at their lines."

Come September, Gleason will be back in his favorite haunt of Miami Beach and starting a new season. He doesn't miss Hollywood.

"Where have all my old buddies gone? Not New York. I sometimes wonder how I ever lived there, playing 18 holes every day at Toots Shor's bar."

He has even solved the need to come here for films: Next January he plans to costar with Lucille Ball in "Diamond Jim Brady," to be filmed in Florida.

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

Queen's Realm

What does the apron-wearer do with her time, now that industrial research and gadgetry have relieved the average housewife of most of her laborious kitchen work? Why, work in the kitchen, of course.

A husband's eyes may bulge at the suggestion the housewife's time clock shows she spends more time in the kitchen than did Grandma, but such may be the case.

Certainly, Grandma's chores were different than those performed by her successor, but there are more revolutionary forces guiding kitchen habits than precooked foods and electric can openers. One of the strangest forces is the condensation of modern homes.

Earlier generations grew up and worked in roomier abodes which frequently boasted special rooms devoted to sewing, washing, cooking, dining and courting. Many of these functions are now concentrated in the room housing the sink, the stove, the cupboards and a glittering array of chrome-plated hardware designed to free womankind from it all.

A survey has been made by a manufacturer which concludes today's typical housewife enjoys her kitchen so much she doesn't want to leave it. It has become her home headquarters in which all activities originate.

This revelation substantiates the realization that the kitchen is by long odds the most expensive room in the house.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — In the belated and sometimes frantic effort to sweep away the paper that now clogs the flow of data among the nation's brokers, a familiar financial district character is being put into gradual retirement.

This is the little old man who scurries through the teeming alleys and narrow streets of the financial district here, poor as a pensioner, but momentarily possessing many thousands of dollars in securities.

This message—there are hundreds of his type—always can be spotted because his clothing isn't as fine as that worn by most financial men. But some people feel that, relative to his minimum wage, he is as hard a worker as any in the financial district.

Now the impersonal efficiency of electronic computers, the advent of the technological age on Wall Street, will handle much of his work and do so with more than his shuffling speed. Stocks theoretically will be more secure also.

The reduction in numbers of these messengers—and the first fundamental assault on the paperwork problem—comes with the beginning of what is called the Central Certificate Service of the New York Stock Exchange.

When this service is in full use, sometime near the end of 1968, it will mean that a great majority of the certificates that messengers now carry from brokerage house to brokerage house will be contained in one depository.

When a trade is made a computer merely will make a bookkeeping entry, adding the stock to the buying brokers account and subtracting it from that of the seller's. Since the stock certificates never will leave the big vaults, the messenger no longer will be needed to rush certificates from broker to broker.

This doesn't mean that all physical transfers will be ended, for not all stock certificates are held in "street name," meaning that although owned by individuals they are left for safekeeping with the broker.

Although such certificates make up only 15 per cent of the shares listed on the Big Board, they are by far the most active ones. In fact, they account for most of the activity; they are owned by traders rather than long-term investors.

Since these shares are so active they also account for a great deal of the paperwork that, by its volume, is ensnaring the nation's financial communities, making attempts for one time deliveries mere futile gestures and reducing bookkeeping to a dangerously chaotic mess.

By keeping the certificates in common vaults—the locations of which the exchange declines to divulge—it is hoped that brokers will be relieved of the burden of storing, inspecting, counting and recording shares. Primitive disorder will have been replaced by modern efficiency.

The storing of all street-name certificates through the letter C has been completed. And as more certificates are deposited each working day, more physical transfers will be eliminated.

Eventually, almost all street-name certificates of the New York and American exchanges will be included. And some day, it is hoped, over-the-counter stocks—those not listed on any exchange—will be stored in the depository.

The next step in this automated bookkeeping will further reduce paperwork, and with it the number of menial jobs. This step is to replace the certificate itself; after all, why print fancy certificates to lie dusty in vaults?

The solution is fraught with problems. First, the laws of many states must be changed, just as they were changed before the Central Certificate

Service was activated. But there is much more also.

Ideally, what is required is a piece of paper that can be read by a machine, which is acceptable as absolute proof of ownership and which cannot easily be counterfeited.

That's a big order. It shows just how heavily the financial markets have leaned on the little old messenger.

Summer School Program Aids Slow Learners

By PETE WILLS
Herald Staff Writer

A valuable part of a city's overall educational program is summer school. Circleville's summer educational instruction consists of two parts. They are remedial classes and driver education.

Purpose of the remedial instruction is to help the slow learner meet the basic reading and mathematical needs for primary grades and attack reading deficiencies at the intermediate level in an attempt to alleviate future problems and dropouts.

As a student falls behind at the elementary level and is retained in the secondary level for poor achievement, his self-confidence decreases and tends to create further failure.

Specific objectives of the Circleville Summer school program are to improve the achievement of students deficient in reading skills and comprehension; to improve reading skills which will lead to pupil self confidence and better achievement in other subject areas; to improve knowledge of and encourage use of school and public library resources; to reduce the number of students retained for poor scholarship, thus reducing the cause for dropouts at a future date; to motivate educationally deprived students by offering them the chance to remedy their deficiencies to provide continuity for remedial opportunity and to individualize instruction for the educationally disadvantaged student.

PROGRAMMED material has been provided for the teachers at the elementary level to diagnose individual differences. Each student is given the opportunity to advance at his own pace, assuring success and building confidence in his reading ability which will carry over into other subject areas.

The low teacher pupil ratio in summer school is a great advantage which helps to overcome individual differences in summer school classes.

Individual assistance is provided during the regular school year for students regarding the proper use of the library and its function as related to improved scholastic achievement at all levels of instruction. This same type of library experience is being provided in summer school classes in the elementary schools.

Remedial classes are being held for grades one through six at S. Court St. Elementary School and Mound St. Elementary. Remedial classes held at the junior high school include general math, general science, English and history. Driver education classes are presently being conducted at the high school under the direction SCIENCE INSTRUCTION — Kester McCain is shown here demonstrating that electric current flows through wires and can be detected by use of a compass. Summer science classes reiterate essential scientific concepts which may have been missed by the students during the regular school year.

By DICK MARTIN
EDITOR'S NOTE—Dick Martin, writing for both halves of the comedy team of Rowan and Martin, drops his buffoon's mask to discuss seriously the impact of humor in a mass medium. The team, successful in clubs and as television guest stars for years, have shot to the peak of success during the past season as stars of the hit NBC variety show, "Laugh-in" with its new, furiously paced format.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Why does America need more freedom in its comedy?

Let's put this question in context—in television, because, let's face it, that's where it's all happening.

As Dan and I see it, the acceleration of change in our institutions, that is both political and social, is so fast that it takes a broad stroke to paint a picture of what is happening now.

The broad stroke is comedy because it's the most devastating stroke you can use. Maybe devastating isn't the proper word, but in this sense we think it applies.

We can illustrate what is happening out there in "the real world" in a flash on television, make it burlesque, fast and explosive. You see it for what it is. That's the style of our times and finally television is catching up. In the past, it seems to both of us, TV didn't lead, it followed. The pace was set by commercial interests and the material was written and illustrated accordingly. Now we see a change where the pace of the material is passing the commercials—and, of course, I am talking about our show.

I sound as though we're taking the credits for this but please don't misunderstand. The pace really was set a long time ago, underground, by comedians like Lennie Bruce, Jonathan Winters, Buddy Hackett and ourselves. We were all out there in the clubs popping Mary Poppins out of her tree while motion pictures were breaking down barriers in their own field.

Then came the Smothers Brothers. Thanks to their guts in relating their material directly to what youth was thinking, comedy started breaking out on television at a pace and in areas that were theretofore considered taboo. I think we came into the medium and took it all that much further.

And there's Jonathan Winters. If Winters were allowed to fly he could give us all a tremendous run for our lives. The only thing that is keeping him down is the old-fashioned format of his show. Three years ago even Winters would have been cut to pieces by the censors. I can see where he's picking up tremendous freedom as a consequence of the changing times.

But at the root of the matter lies the fact that comedy is a buffer for social changes. If you can see some humor in it, then the change becomes more palatable. We can deal with subjects in our show like race, religion, funerals, politics and motherhood—any fast evolving institution—and cut them to the bone. How do we get away with it? Because the public is hip, because the medium is hip, the material is hip and its fast and that is exactly what is happening.

World's Largest Airplane Undergoes 1st Flight Test

MARIETTA, Ga. (AP) — The successful flight of the world's biggest airplane proves there are practically no limits to construction of bigger planes, says Tom May, president of Lockheed-Georgia Co. But he says the world isn't ready for them.

The C5 Galaxy flew its first test flight Sunday. Although there were minor troubles, the Air Force and Lockheed-Georgia called the flight highly successful.

The C5 is being developed for the Air Force. Basically, it is a military plane, but the design can be changed to make it a commercial airplane.

May said, "We have preliminary plans for airplanes weighing over a million pounds. But it is fairly clear that the world is not quite ready for a commercial airplane of this size."

The C5 will carry 350 troops and all of their equipment. This one weighed 497,000 pounds on takeoff but is designed for more than 700,000 pounds.

"We like to talk about a commercial plane similar to the C5 which could carry nearly 1,000 passengers," May said at a news conference, "but the idea of carrying people on the flight deck, and freight in the hold, is extremely attractive to us."

May predicted that when the C5 becomes a commercial airplane, it probably will be used first as a freighter.

Future passenger jets will travel at speeds of between 1,500 and 2,000 miles an hour, and May said the relatively slow speed of the C5 would be a handicap in a passenger airplane.

Takeoff speed on the C5 test flight was only 143 miles an hour. Top speed was 230 miles an hour. No effort to reach the maximum of 550 miles an hour was made.

One section of the huge landing gear would not retract, and the plane lost two dust covers from the wheel mounts, which was about like losing the hub caps off an automobile. Lockheed-Georgia spokesmen said both defects were minor.

Fifty-eight C5s are scheduled for delivery to the Air Force by 1971 at a cost of $1.8 billion.

French Maoists Working without Mao

By LOUIS NEVIN
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — French students who call themselves admirers of Mao Tse-tung played a leading part in fomenting France's violent university riots of May and June, but there is little evidence of direct involvement of the Red Chinese in the events.

Red China made no effort to hide its support for rioting students and striking workers in France's six weeks of social strife. Peking claimed that millions of Chinese workers and Red Guards inside China were demonstrating on behalf of the French students.

In what Parisians now call that "mad month of May," some groups of students carried portraits of Chairman Mao and many students sported Mao badges and lapel buttons. During the student occupation of the Sorbonne, the heart of Paris University, students sold Peking propaganda books, pamphlets, badges, insignia and Mao portraits from stalls set up in the courtyard of the old building.

The vendors refused to say where they got the supplies, which were believed to have come from a shop of the tiny Maoist wing of the French Communist party, dealing in propaganda and handicraft from "New China." Such shops exist in many major cities in the West; they are said to be supplied directly from Red China rather than through Peking's diplomatic missions. The Maoist wing of the French party numbers about 1,000, according to the best available estimates. The orthodox French Communist party has about a quarter of a million members.

The students throughout the upheaval appeared to have only a fuzzy idea of their allegiances. Those considering themselves on the extreme left against practically everything which represented the establishment to them, often called themselves "Marxist-Leninist," in imitation of Mao. But often they balked at calling themselves Maoists, claiming that they would denounce Mao as readily as they denounced the orthodox Soviet and French Communists should they feel that Mao was deviating from their idea of "Marxism-Leninism."

NEW VERSION OF RUSSIAN ROULETTE—Katy Daly is trying out a new version of Russian roulette. You stick your face in the circle opposite a sponge loaded with dessert topping. You turn a handle a certain number of turns, and you never know if the "pie" will be released until it's too late.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren 'Good Deed' Goes Down the Drain

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorcee with children. In my capacity as a secretary I had access to all the details of a very messy divorce involving an executive in my company. (His wife deserted him, and he recently divorced her and was given custody of their children.)

I invited him to a party at my home, and on the invitation I wrote, "If I can be of any help in your present predicament, please let me know."

He did not even acknowledge my invitation.

I am very confused about this. Did I use poor taste in offering my help? Did I embarrass him? Or should I take this as an indication that he doesn't want anything to do with me? Your opinion would be appreciated.

CONFUSED: Your offer to help him in his "present predicament" was an innocent blunder, since you learned the details of it from your access to other sources, and not from him. You may have humiliated, if not irritated, him by your well intentioned intrusion into his private affairs. Meanwhile, he should have acknowledged your invitation. Let things simmer.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine who married and moved out of town wrote that she and her husband were coming to town next month. We see each other only once a year and keep in touch by letter. She wrote: "We would love to see you, so why don't you throw a party, inviting some people we know? We'd enjoy it."

I had intended to invite her and her husband for an evening, but I didn't plan on throwing a party mainly because we have no mutual friends.

My husband is furious. He says she has a lot of nerve, and I should not invite her here at all. She really is a nice person, and our friendship goes back a long way. How can I get out of this gracefully?

STUCK: DEAR STUCK: Proceed with your original plan and ignore her suggestion to "Throw a party." Since you consider her a "nice person," why not dig up a couple of other chums whose friendship goes back a long way and have an all girl party in the afternoon? That way your husband will have no complaints, and you won't feel guilty.

DEAR ABBY: May I say a word about male surgery to prevent unwanted children? My husband had a vasectomy and I am here to testify that it is the greatest! We are in our 70s and are still lovers. We have no regrets for not having our own children, and we've helped 45 delinquent children to become better citizens.

For people with a background of inherited birth defects or those with occupations which keep them on the run, not for folks like us who were the oldest of large, poor families and had had it, it is a blessing.

RESPECTS HUMAN LIFE CONFIDENTIAL TO "D.K.P. IN BROOKLYN": I once read "compromise makes a good umbrella but a poor roof." It will do as a temporary measure, but don't expect it to shelter you indefinitely.

dents and striking workers in France's six weeks of social strife. Peking claimed that millions of Chinese workers and Red Guards inside China were demonstrating on behalf of the French students.

President Charles de Gaulle's government in a statement May 11 claimed that "enemies of peace" were exploiting the student unrest as a means of torpedoing the American-North Vietnamese peace talks in Paris. Government officials said privately this charge was aimed at Red China, but no evidence was ever produced to support it.

France established diplomatic relations with Red China in 1964. Since then relations have cooled. Peking recalled its ambassador last year, leaving the Paris embassy to a charge d'affaires.
But so far as the student upheaval was concerned, no evidence has been reported of any direct or indirect ties between the extremists in the university and the Red Chinese embassy in Paris.
Many of the students on the far left consider themselves disciples of the German-American philosopher Herbert Marcuse, 70, a professor who teaches at San Diego, Calif. His thesis is that the modern age of technology has made automation of men and that only those nonestablishment groups such as the students and the unemployed can be influential in eliminating the errors of the past. He claims that the Communists, along with the capitalists, are part of an ossified society which has replaced real democracy.

The De Gaulle government has clamped down on the revolutionary students and banned seven extremist organizations.
Two of these took direct inspiration from Mao, the Marxist-Leninist Communist party and the Union of Communist (Marxist-Leninist) Youth.
Two others were reported to include so-called Maoist elements, the Federation of Revolutionary Students and the "March 22 Movement" led by Daniel Cohn-Bendit. But "Danny the Red" rallied around himself all manner of radical political elements, including anarchists and Trotskyites.
In general, the revolutionary students tend to deny that they follow any one man—Mao or anybody else. They claim to be foes principally of the middle class, from which most of them spring.

PEN RIOT DAMAGE NEAR $4 MILLION—More than six fires rage out of control in the airview of the Ohio Penitentiary in downtown Columbus before hundreds of rioting prisoners were subdued by state highway patrolmen and police. National Guard units moved in later. Damage was estimated at $3-$4 million. Officials said racial factors may have triggered the riot.

Probe of Stock Market Buying, Selling under Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission, in one of its rare open hearings, is investigating the cost of buying and selling stocks in the United States.

In a series of hearings open-

Worker Is Killed By Tank Fumes

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—William Stott of North Canton was killed and three other Goodyear Tire Rubber Co. workers overcome by fumes shortly before midnight Saturday while cleaning a railroad tank car at the company's Archwood Avenue plant. It was Stott's 45th birthday.

An investigation was underway to determine what had been in the car to cause the deadly fumes, which were not identified.

ing today, the SEC expects to question staff experts from the New York Stock Exchange on the minimum fee structure under which the major exchanges set the cost of buying and selling stock.

The SEC, which has held public hearings only once or twice over the last 20 years, also will check into the practice of fee splitting among major brokerage houses.

Just last week, in an apparent attempt to strengthen their planned defense of minimum commissions, the New York and American exchanges voted to eliminate fee splitting and grant a discount on fees for large transactions.

The SEC said the initial phase of its hearings will run through July and will be devoted to gathering facts on minimum rates.

In August, the SEC will turn its attention to economic and legal aspects.

Included in the first phase will be an examination into who pays the fees and commissions, how they are computed and how they are distributed and shared. The Justice Department has challenged the entire system of minimum fees and contends they should be set by competition. If anything, a maximum fee is needed to protect investors from excessive costs, the Justice Department maintains.

In scheduling the hearings, the SEC opened the entire minimum rate schedule for scrutiny and suggested an interim reduction of fees by the New York exchange to take effect Sept. 15.

As an option the exchange could eliminate minimum fees on transactions exceeding $50,000 and open the way for cuts through negotiation between the parties.

Other national exchanges were asked to consider cuts but no deadline or specific proposals were made by the SEC. Normally, the New York exchange sets the pace for the industry.

The interim schedule proposed by the commission could result in substantial savings to investors, especially on large orders.

On a 5,000-share purchase of a $30 stock, for example, the present fee is $1,700. It would be $914 under the commission's schedule, a savings of $786.

Pilot Held in Cuba after Hijack

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The wife of Cuban-born pilot George Prellezo pleaded to visit him in a Havana jail today as South-east Airlines prepared to retrieve its hijacked airliner.

Airline President Irvin L. Jones Jr., who said the Cuban government had promised the safe return of the plane's other occupants, told newsmen a substitute pilot would be flown to Havana today. The airliner, hijacked over the Florida Keys Saturday by one of its 15 passengers, was to be flown to Key West this afternoon.

The other crew members, identified by the airlines only as stewardess A. Kimball and copilot Dave Martin of Miami, are to be returned with the passengers and the plane.

Jones' statement included no mention of Mrs. Prellezo in plans to retrieve the plane.

"I have requested to be on that flight" to Cuba, 33-year-old Olga Prellezo said Sunday. Her husband, naturalized as a U.S.

citizen last year, was accused by the Cuban government of being a deserter.

"Since they are leaving my husband there, I see no reason for him to be there alone. I want to be there to plead for him, to do any necessary thing to get him back," Mrs. Prellezo said.

"I beg and demand of the U.S. government to be allowed to travel to Cuba so I can be near my husband," she said.

Prellezo, 36, arrived in Miami June 27, 1960, as the pilot of a regularly scheduled cargo plane from Cuba, his wife said.

"He chose to stay here and that is no crime. The plane was flown back to Cuba," said Mrs. Prellezo, a Puerto Rican-born American.

The Prellezos have five children, ranging in age from 5 to 14. All are naturalized or native-born U.S. citizens.

Prellezo radioed the Federation Aviation Agency at Key West Saturday that one of the passengers was holding a "gun at my head" and had ordered him to fly to Cuba.

In Havana, copilot Dave Martin said the gunman entered the cabin as the plane neared Key West.

Mrs. Prellezo, flanked by her children, told a news conference in Miami Sunday that her husband was very proud of his U.S. citizenship.

"I never thought that I would see the day I would have to feel ashamed of being an American citizen. It only gets you in trouble all over the world," she said.

The State Department, whose affairs in Havana are handled by the Swiss Embassy there, said Prellezo was assured all of the protections guaranteed any U.S. citizen.

"We've made all the official protests," said a department spokesman. "What's left to do? An invasion?"

The Southeast plane was the sixth airliner diverted to Cuba this year, and the 14th such incident in the last two years.

Held without formal charges here are Paul Forrest, 25, of West Chester; Edward J. Kern, 59, and William E. Ziefel Jr., 27, both of Pittsburgh and Wallace Mitchell 26, of Valencia.

Police seized four rifles, two shotguns, seven hand guns, 2,600 rounds of ammunition, six knives and $1,750 in cash.

Police Slay Woman, Injure Nightrider

Officer, Bystander Seriously Injured In Mississippi

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP)—A young Alabama fugitive wielding a submachine gun and a pistol was seriously injured and his woman companion was killed Sunday by police staked out at the home of a prominent Jewish businessman to guard against nightriders.

Police Chief C. L. "Roy" Gunn said he believed that 11 recent acts of violence in Meridian have been solved with the arrest of 22-year-old Thomas Albert Tarrants III of Mobile, Ala.

He said Tarrants also has been sought in connection with other bombing incidents in Mississippi.

Tarrants was charged in a warrant with the attempted murder of Patrolman J. M. Hatcher, 31, wounded four times in the stomach and chest, during a high-speed chase.

One of the bullets pierced Hatcher's heart.

Found shot to death on the floorboard of Tarrants' car was his companion, identified as Kathy Ainsworth, 26, a fifth grade school teacher in Jackson, Miss.

A neighbor who went outside to see what was going on was hit in a spray of bullets. He is Navy Machinists Mate 2nd Class Robert E. Burton, formerly of Fulton, Mo. Hatcher and Burton were hospitalized in critical condition.

The shooting started at 1 a.m. Sunday at the ranch-style home of Meyer Davidson, 51, who led in raising a $75,000 reward for information in the bombing of Temple Beth Israel in Meridian earlier this year.

Eye Revised Code

BOSTON (AP)—The state's 132-year-old criminal code, which has 1,500 different sections, will be revised and streamlined by a 52-man commission. Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson said Prof. Livingston Hall of Harvard Law School will head the group. The $50,000 cost of the two-year study is pledged by two charitable funds.

SHEEP DIPPING—Mike Gross, employee of Paul Taylor, Marysville, guides the sheep of William Goode into the dip solution during a recent dipping operation. The solution is designed to kill tick, lice and other insects that live on the sheep.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Weather bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

Ohioans sweated for the second straight night as high humidity and temperatures in the 70s were reported in all parts of the state. A moderate breeze helped make it a little more bearable in the northwest. Skies were clear across the state.

The end of the hot weather is in sight. A cold front will sweep through the Buckeye State during the next 24 hours with thundershowers ahead of the front moving into all parts of the state by afternoon.

Cooler and drier air will push into west sections by late afternoon or early evening and through the rest of the state during the night, gradually shutting off the showers.

Temperatures should rise into the low 90s today but may be held down a little in the west by the thundershowers.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Scattered showers and thundershowers extreme west early this morning, spreading over state by early afternoon. Continued hot and humid, highs in the low 90s. Partly cloudy and cooler tonight and Tuesday with thundershowers ending tonight. Lows tonight in upper 50s extreme north and the 60s elsewhere.

NORTHWEST OHIO — Variable cloudiness, hot and humid with scattered thundershowers today, highs in the low 90s. Partly cloudy and cooler tonight and Tuesday. Lows tonight in the upper 50s.

SOUTHWEST OHIO — Variable cloudiness, hot and humid today with scattered thundershowers, highs in the 90s. Considerable cloudiness and cooler tonight with a few showers or thundershowers, lows in the 60s. Partly cloudy and cooler Tuesday.

SOUTHEAST OHIO — Hot and humid today with scattered thundershowers, highs in the 90s. Considerable cloudiness and not quite so warm tonight with a few thundershowers, lows in the mid to upper 60s. Partly cloudy and cooler Tuesday.

4 Pennsylvania Fugitives Nabbed after Police Chase

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—More than 100 policemen from two Ohio counties took part in the chase and capture of four fugitives from Pennsylvania. They were forced out of a home with tear gas Saturday in nearby Girard. Police captured an arsenal of weapons. The four, held in Youngstown jail, are charged in Pennsylvania with the $5,500 robbery Friday of the Abbotstown State Bank near Gettysburg and a hardware store. Held without formal charges here are Paul Forrest, 25, of West Chester, Edward J. Kern, 59, and William E. Ziefel Jr., 27, both of Pittsburgh and Wallace Mitchell 26, of Valencia. Police seized four rifles, two shotguns, seven hand guns, 2,600 rounds of ammunition, six knives and $1,750 in cash. The fugitives drove off when they were spotted by policemen in Youngstown and the four men fired about seven times. One shot grazed a policeman's leg.

Negro School Heads Sought

CINCINNATI (AP)—More Negro school administrators in predominantly Negro schools has been requested of Cincinnati School Superintendent Dr. Paul Miller by eight neighborhood organizations here. Bailey Turner, Avondale Community Council president and spokesman for the groups, said they believe more qualified Negro school officials will help ease some of the problems in the schools.

THE A.L. ALL-STAR TEAM STARTERS—Picked by votes of players, managers and coaches, these eight players will make up the starting team for the American League in the July 9 game in Houston. Five are repeaters from last year's team, including outfielder Carl Yastrzemski of Boston, catcher Bill Freehan of Detroit, first baseman Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota, second baseman Rod Carew of Minnesota and third baseman Brooks Robinson of Baltimore. The other starters are shortstop Jim Fregosi of California, and outfielders Frank Howard of Washington and Willie Horton of Detroit.

Bench and Culver Lead Reds Win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — George Culver was the Cincinnati Reds' winning pitcher Sunday but if one would ask Giants Manager Herman Franks for the 5-3 game's key player, he might shout out the name of Johnny Bench, the Reds' sensational young catcher.

Franks is one of Bench's biggest boosters around the National League. He not only says that Bench is the league's best receiver this year but he claims Johnny is "the greatest in the league since Gabby Hartnett."

Before he was shelled out of the game in the eighth inning, Culver managed to break a personal six-game losing streak — he's now 6-8 on the season — and brought his two-year major league mound record to 13-11, including 8-1 on the road.

If you listen to Franks, Bench might have been responsible for the Reds notching their seventh win in the last 10 games. They now are 37-37 in the standings, for a first division, fifth-place tie with Pittsburgh.

"Bench does it all now, handles pitchers exceptionally well, knows exactly what he is doing and where to throw," said Franks Sunday about the 20-year-old Reds receiver. "I never have seen any catcher like him."

Franks admits Bench lacks experience, "but once he acquires it, he could be the best the league ever has had."

Offensively, the Reds were led by Pete Rose's fifth homer of the season — a fourth-inning poke that was Pete's first right-handed four-bagger this year. Lee May belted four singles.

The Reds counted three times in the third inning and twice in the fourth and the Giants tallied two runs in the eighth and one in the ninth to complete the game's scoring.

Cincinnati begins its trek back east today with a night game at Houston. Jim Maloney seeks his ninth win in 13 decision for the Reds against the Astros' Dave Giusti (5-8).

POSTING A GOOD EFFORT—Only 20 and a member of the ladies pro golf swing for four months, Sandra Post of Oakville, Ontario, Canada, finishes an 18-hole playoff the winner of the Ladies PGA crown over Kathy Whitworth of the U.S. Scene is Sutton, Mass. National League Pitchers Chosen for All-Star Tilt

CINCINNATI (AP) — If All-Star game experience means anything, National League pitchers should have a decided edge over their American League rivals when they meet in the annual major league All-Star game at Houston on July 9.

Manager Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals picked eight pitchers Saturday for the National League.

Four of them, all right-handers, have been selected in previous years—seven years for Los Angeles' Don Drysdale, six years for San Francisco's Juan Marichal, four years for St. Louis' Bob Gibson and two years for New York's Tom Seaver.

The other four are newcomers to All-Star competition. They are left-handers Steve Carlton of St. Louis, Woody Fryman of Philadelphia and Jerry Koosman of New York and right-hander Ron Reed of Atlanta.

On the other hand, only three of the seven American League pitchers, picked Friday by Manager Dick Williams of the Boston Red Sox, have had previous experience in the mid-summer classic.

Left-hander Sam McDowell of Cleveland and right-hander Mel Stottlemyre of New York have been named three times each and right-hander Denny McLain of Detroit has been named twice.

The American League freshmen will be right-handers Luis Tiant of Cleveland, John Odum of Oakland and Jose Santiago of Boston and south-paw Tommy John of Chicago.

Mike Mosley Wins At New Bremen

NEW BREMEN, Ohio (AP)—Mike Mosley of La Puente, Calif., took home top prize money of $1,275 for his first and second place efforts Sunday in United States Auto Club (USAC) sprint car competition at New Bremen Speedway.

Mosley, driving a Ford-powered entry, was nipped at the finish line in the first 30-lap, 15-mile feature, but came back in the second for a one-car length victory over Larry Dickson of Marietta.

Teo Cruz New Lightweight Champ

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — There was confusion over the scoring but it was abundantly clear today that Teo Cruz was the new lightweight champion of the world.

The 29-year-old Dominican native became the first fighter from his country to win a world title by outpointing Carlos Ortiz, Puerto Rican-born New Yorker, in 15 rounds early Sunday.

Sims, Still with Tribe, Brings Indians 7-5 Win

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox spent plenty of time last winter trying to lure Duke Sims away from the Cleveland Indians. Talks continued until the trading deadline June 15.

Although tempted, the Indians held to their demands. So Sims still is with the Tribe as one of the team's most valuable, as well as most versatile, players.

Sims had two singles and a pair of walks in his first four appearances at the plate against the Red Sox Sunday. In his fifth trip, he broke a 3-3 tie with a three-run homer and the Indians went on to a 7-5 victory in 10 innings.

"Sims has done a very good job for us," Cleveland Manager Al Dark said. "He's been just wonderful. I didn't give a thought to pinch-hitting for him even though a left-handed pitcher was on the mound for the Red Sox in the 10th."

With the count 2-2 and facing relief ace Sparky Lyle, Sims hit a towering drive into the stands just inside the right field foul pole for his seventh homer.

"Everyone knew the Red Sox were looking for a left-handed hitting catcher," Dark said. "Yes, they tried to get Sims. They also talked to us about our other catcher, Joe Azcue. The way Sims and Azcue have been going, we're happy we didn't make any trade."

Boston Manager Dick Williams confirmed the Red Sox tried to obtain Sims. Sims currently is filling in at first for injured Tony Horton.

Sims' homer overshadowed a brilliant relief performance by rookie right-hander Vicente Romo, 22, who allowed only two hits in 6 2/3 innings after bailing out Steve Hargan with the Indians behind 2-0 in the first inning.

Drysdale, Gibson Clash Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP)—There has been much debate about the drabness of runless innings and low-score baseball games. Yet more than 37,000 are expected at Dodger Stadium tonight, paying to see two pitchers try to blank each other.

For Los Angeles it will be Don Drysdale, who on June 5 set a major league record by pitching his sixth straight shutout.

Last Wednesday in St. Louis the Cardinals' Bob Gibson hurled his fifth consecutive blank job and shoots tonight for No. 6.

Derailment Injures 2 Near Urbana

URBANA, Ohio (AP)—"It was one of the worst train wrecks I've seen," said Champaign County Sheriff Roger Stillings.

But the only injuries reported when a Columbus-bound Penn Central freight left the track near St. Paris Sunday afternoon were to two transients who had hopped the train at Indianapolis, Ind.

Penn Central crews worked through the night to clean up the wreckage—51 cars of the 95-car train sprawled across the track in accordion-type fashion.

One of the train's three engine also derailed, but did not overturn.

The injured, both identified by Sheriff Stillings as transients, were James Potter, 37, New Boston, and Edgar Gross, 48, Marshalltown, Iowa.

Both were pinned in the wreckage for about an hour before being rescued by sheriff's deputies and Urbana firemen.

They were taken to Mercy Memorial Hospital where Potter, who suffered contusions and abrasions, was reported in fair condition.

Gross, who suffered internal injuries and a broken leg, was transferred to Memorial Hospital in Springfield. His condition was described as poor.

Stillings said damage was extensive and that Penn Central officials planned to make an estimate sometime today.

There was no immediate determination of the cause although some speculated that the high 80-degree heat may have caused the track to shift.

"But that's strictly unofficial," Stillings reported.

Bingman, Coca Cola, Herald Win Rescheduled Games

Bingman Drugs, Coca Cola and Herald posted wins in make up tilts in Little League Majors Saturday.

The Drugmen came up with three runs in the second extra frame to whip American Legion, 11-9; Coke slipped past Elks, 4-2, and the Hawks won by forfeit over Purina.

Legion threw their tilt with Bingman into extra innings by scoring three in the bottom of the sixth to knot the score, 8-8. Neither side marked in the seventh but Bingman got three in the eighth. American Legion notched one in the bottom of the eighth.

Terry Brown, Rock Davis, Tim Brown and Rod Wolfe all worked a little on the winners' mound. They walked five, fanned nine and allowed 15 hits.

ANDY Rhoads, Mike Diltz and Steve DeBruin shared the Legion mound, walking 10, striking out five and scattering 13 hits.

Mike Speakman homered and doubled for Bingman. Tim Brown tripled and Robin Martin, Keith Hoop and Rocky Edgington doubled.

Bob Dodson tagged a three sacker and a double for American Legion. DeBruin and Harold Leist doubled.

Coke took command in the bottom of the first with a run. Elks tied it up in the top of the next but Coke went ahead for good with two in their half.

John Ankrom went all the way for the Coke Jets, walking two, striking out nine and scattering just three hits.

Kris Kline and Randy Thomas each walked one on Elks mound. Kline fanned four and Thomas three and they gave up a total of eight hits.

Thomas' double was the only extra baser of the tilt.

GE Outduels Kiwanis in Extra Innings

General Electric battled Kiwanis for 11 innings before the Electricians pushed across a run to grab a 2-1 Babe Ruth League win.

Lindsey stormed past L. M. Butch, 12-2, in another loop tilt. Both were played Saturday.

Bryce Brown and Rick Blankenship threw a one-hitter at Kiwanis in GE's drawn out affair. The winning duo walked a total of six, fanning 19. Only hit given up was a single by Chris Long.

Don Valentine, Mike Webb and Marion Long all worked for Kiwanis, walking six, fanning 13 and giving up six hits.

John Hunt doubled for the winners.

Lindsey was moving along, piling up a big lead. They marked three in the third and three in the fifth. Not satisfied with a 6-0 lead, the Bakers' Terry Morrison singled in the bottom of the sixth. Steve Thomas drew a walk and Tom Bowers was hit by a pitch to load the sacks.

Dean Fausnaugh was safe on an error. Mike Hill doubled and before the Jewelers could retire the side, Lindsey had come up with six runs and a 12-0 lead. Butch marked two in the top of the last.

Werte Teets went all the way for the winners, allowing only two safeties with one walk and 10 strike outs.

Tim Leasure and Kent Wolfe split mound chores for Butch, walking three, fanning two and allowing 13 hits.

Jack Easter, Tom Bowers, Dean Fausnaugh and Mike Hill all collected doubles for the winners.

Bill LaGrow of Kochheiser and Greg Hoskins of Savings Bank were locked in a pitching duel. LaGrow came up the winner, walking four, fanning six and scattering seven hits.

Hoskins issued six walks, struck out 13 and allowed six safeties.

Dana Carley's homer in the third with one on provided two runs for the losers. Hoskins and Dave Garrett each singled twice.

Damascus Clash With Dr. Eager Set

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At last followers of Damascus and Dr. Eager should be able to settle, once and for all, their arguments over which is the better race horse.

The confrontation between the two in the $100,000 Suburban Handicap at Aqueduct Thursday highlights the July 4 Holiday three-day weekend in thoroughbred racing.

Lip's Fine Brings Hustle to Cubs; Win 6-2

By MIKE BRYSON

Associated Press Sports Writer
A lot of things irk Leo Durocher. One of them is a lack of hustle from his Chicago Cubs.

The Lip decided to do something about it Saturday—he slapped a $200 fine on one of his players for loafing on the basepaths.

Every single Cub hustled Sunday all the way to a 6-2 conquest of St. Louis' National League leaders. It was the second victory in the three-game series for Chicago, loser of 11 of 12 games before the Cardinals came to town.

But St. Louis held on to its 6½ game lead as Cincinnati whipped San Francisco 5-3 and Los Angeles edged Atlanta 3-2.

In other games, New York nipped Houston 1-0 and Pittsburgh stopped Philadelphia 5-2.

What made the Cubs' victory especially sweet was that it came against old nemesis Steve Carlton.

The left-hander, who had banished the Cubs twice earlier this season including once on a one-hitter, was the victim of a three-run uprising in the first inning, then was chased with two more in the fifth.

Singles by Glenn Beckert, Billy Williams and Randy Hundley staked starter Bill Hands, 7-5, to the early lead. The Cubs mixed another single by Williams, Ernie Banks' double and an infield out for the two in the fifth and Jim Hickman lashed a solo homer in the eighth.

Bob Tolan had an eighth-inning homer for the Cards.

Pete Rose's two-run homer and four singles by Lee May powered Cincinnati to a 5-0 lead before San Francisco staged a late eruption.

The Giants combined singles by Jim Hart, Bobby Bonds, pinchhitter Dave Marshall and Dick Dietz for two runs in the eighth, and Hart singled in another in the ninth before Gerry Arrigo and Clay Carroll quieted things down.

Los Angeles made Ken Boyer's second RBI of the day in the third inning stand up to turn back Atlanta. The Braves had tied it 2-2 in the third on Felipe Alou's two-run double.

But the Dodgers came right back on Len Gabrielson's double, Tom Haller's single and Boyer's ground out. Jim "Mudcat" Grant, 3-3, won on a five-hitter.

Pittsburgh rode Willie Stargell's two-run homer in the eighth to its fourth straight victory—hanking the Phils their fourth straight defeat.

Astro Denis Menke's confusion over a routine forceout led to New York's only run in the fifth.

Ron Swoboda walked and took third on Jerry Grote's single.

Greg Goossen then bounced to second and when Grote stopped in the baseline, Menke tried to tag him out, but lost the ball, permitting Swoboda to score.

Tom Seaver, who struck out eight including five in the first two innings, won his seventh game and fifth straight on a five-hitter.

Dave Stockton Wins Cleveland Open Tourney

By HAL PARIS

Associated Press Sports Writer
CLEVELAND (AP) — A check for $22,000 made confident Dave Stockton forget all about the oppressive heat.

"The hot weather bothered me. I felt horrible and dizzy," Stockton said Sunday after he won the Cleveland Open Golf Tournament, his first triumph of the year.

The 26-year-old Californian staggered home with a one-over par 72, his worst round of the 72-hole event after earlier rounds of 69, 68 and 67. But his 276 total was two strokes better than rookie Bob Dickson of Tulsa, Okla., and eight strokes under par.

"I didn't feel well but I hit my drives absolutely perfect. I was able to make the big shots," the five-year pro said.

The first prize money boosted Stockton's winnings this year to $46,159. He won two tournaments last season and collected $54,333.

Stockton, whose best previous finish this year was a tie for sixth in the Dallas Open, carried a two-stroke lead into Sunday's final round.

He cruised the first 13 holes of the 6,742-yard Lakewood Country Club course in fine fashion building a four-stroke advantage before wilting under 90-degree temperature.

Dickson, the 1967 U.S. and British Amateur king and playing his only seventh tournament, still picked up $13,200. His biggest check before Sunday was for $835 after he finished in a tie for 46th at the U.S. Open.

Don Downey Wins Feature Stock Race

Don Downey of Jackson won the feature race at Pickaway Speedway Friday, edging Gene Conkle and Ernie Adams, both of Circleville.

Downey also won the consi race. Bob Jacks had the fastest qualifying time of the evening, touring the one-third mile track in 25 seconds.

Beverly Boyssel of Circleville won the powder puff race, and George Branscome of Chillicothe captured the trophy dash.

The first heat was won by Tom Congrove of Hallsville, Roger French of Chillicothe finished second. The second heat was won by Jim Brown with Dick French finishing second. Both are from Chillicothe.

Dick Rader of Circleville won the third heat with George Branscome of Chillicothe finishing second.

GE Outduels Kiwanis in Extra Innings

General Electric battled Kiwanis for 11 innings before the Electricians pushed across a run to grab a 2-1 Babe Ruth League win.

Lindsey stormed past L. M. Butch, 12-2, in another loop tilt. Both were played Saturday.

Bryce Brown and Rick Blankenship threw a one-hitter at Kiwanis in GE's drawn out affair. The winning duo walked a total of six, fanning 19. Only hit given up was a single by Chris Long.

Don Valentine, Mike Webb and Marion Long all worked for Kiwanis, walking six, fanning 13 and giving up six hits.

John Hunt doubled for the winners. Lindsey was moving along, piling up a big lead. They marked three in the third and three in the fifth. Not satisfied with a 6-0 lead, the Bakers' Terry Morrison singled in the bottom of the sixth. Steve Thomas drew a walk and Tom Bowers was hit by a pitch to load the sacks.

Dean Fausnaugh was safe on an error. Mike Hill doubled and before the Jewelers could retire the side, Lindsey had come up with six runs and a 12-0 lead. Butch marked two in the top of the last.

Wertie Teets went all the way for the winners, allowing only two safeties with one walk and 10 strike outs.

Tim Leasure and Kent Wolfe split mound chores for Butch, walking three, fanning two and allowing 13 hits.

Jack Easter, Tom Bowers, Dean Fausnaugh and Mike Hill all collected doubles for the winners.

Kochheiser shut off a Savings Bank rally in the last frame to come up with a 7-6 win in a make up Pony League tilt Saturday.

In another league contest, Savings Bank topped VFW, 7-5. Bill LaGrow of Kochheiser and Greg Hoskins of Savings Bank were locked in a pitching duel. LaGrow came up the winner, walking four, fanning six and scattering seven hits.

Hoskins issued six walks, struck out 13 and allowed six safeties.

Dana Carley's homer in the third with one on provided two runs for the losers. Hoskins and Dave Garrett each singled twice.

Tom Taylor and Peters led the attack of the winners, each blasting a pair of one sackers.

Lip's Fine Brings Hustle to Cubs; Win 6-2

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

A lot of things irk Leo Durocher. One of them is a lack of hustle from his Chicago Cubs.

The Lip decided to do something about it Saturday—he slapped a $200 fine on one of his players for loafing on the base-paths.

Every single Cub hustled Sunday all the way to a 6-2 conquest of St. Louis' National League leaders. It was the second victory in the three-game series for Chicago, loser of 11 of 12 games before the Cardinals came to town.

But St. Louis held on to its 6½ game lead as Cincinnati whipped San Francisco 5-3 and Los Angeles edged Atlanta 3-2.

In other games, New York nipped Houston 1-0 and Pittsburgh stopped Philadelphia 5-2.

What made the Cubs' victory especially sweet was that it came against old nemesis Steve Carlton.

The left-hander, who had banished the Cubs twice earlier this season including once on a one-hitter, was the victim of a three-run uprising in the first inning, then was chased with two more in the fifth.

Singles by Glenna Beckert, Billy Williams and Randy Hundley staked starter Bill Hands, 7-5, to the early lead. The Cubs mixed another single by Williams, Ernie Banks' double and an infield out for the two in the fifth and Jim Hickman lashed a solo homer in the eighth.

Bob Tolan had an eighth-inning homer for the Cards.

Pete Rose's two-run homer and four singles by Lee May powered Cincinnati to a 5-0 lead before San Francisco staged a late eruption.

The Giants combined singles by Jim Hart, Bobby Bonds, pinchhitter Dave Marshall and Dick Dietz for two runs in the eighth, and Hart singled in another in the ninth before Gerry Arriago and Clay Carroll quieted things down.

Los Angeles made Ken Boyer's second RBI of the day in the third inning stand up to turn back Atlanta. The Braves had tied it 2-2 in the third on Felipe Alou's two-run double.

But the Dodgers came right back on Len Gabrielson's double, Tom Haller's single and Boyer's ground out. Jim "Mudcat" Grant, 3-3, won on a five-hitter.

Pittsburgh rode Willie Stargell's two-run homer in the eighth to its fourth straight victory—hanking the Phils their fourth straight defeat.

Astro Denis Menke's confusion over a routine forceout led to New York's only run in the fifth.

Ron Swoboda walked and took third on Jerry Grote's single.

Ralph Engam, Mosley, N.Y., finished second with 9036. Engam had the best won-loss record with 12 wins and one tie in his 16 matches. Ohioan Allie Clark of Ravenna finished fifth with 8,823, for $1,100.

Greg Goossen then bounced to second and when Grote stopped in the baseline, Menke tried to tag him out, but lost the ball, permitting Swoboda to score.

Tom Seaver, who struck out eight including five in the first two innings, won his seventh game and fifth straight on a five-hitter.

White Sox Romp over Detroit, 12-0

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
A day full of Eddie Stanky is easy to take for a ballplayer who has just had a week full of sergeants.

So Tommy John and Tom McCraw, sprung from National Guard duty by weekend passes to spend Sunday with Stanky and the White Sox, led Chicago to a 12-0 romp over Detroit.

John pitched a five-hitter for his seventh straight victory and McCraw slammed three hits including a pair of doubles and scored twice.

Elsewhere in the American League Sunday, New York

trimmed Oakland 4-2, California socked Washington 8-4, Cleveland topped Boston 7-5 in 10 innings, and Baltimore dropped Minnesota 6-4.

McCraw and John, both members of an Indiana Air National Guard unit, are halfway through their annual two-week tour of duty at Alpena, Mich. They flew to Detroit for Sunday's game.

Bill Voss and Sandy Alomar, untroubled by military problems, helped John and McCraw carry off the Detroit maneuvers. Voss walloped a grand slam home run—his third major league homer and second in two days against the Tigers—and Alomar slapped four hits, stole three bases, and scored four runs.

John, whose 7-0 record is even more impressive when you consider the White Sox' troubles this season, struck out five and walked none for his first shutout of the year.

Roy White tagged a two-run homer in the seventh inning, giving the Yankees their victory over Oakland. White's seventh homer of the year snapped a 2-2 tie.

Steve Hamilton came out of the bullpen to strike out Reggie Jackson, ending an eighth inning Oakland threat and saving the victory for Steve Barber. Jackson had homered and singled and scored the A's second run earlier.

Chuck Hinton's two-run triple helped build a four-run California first inning and the Angels coasted past Washington.

Rick Clark went five innings in 94-degree heat and earned the victory against the Senators, ending an eight-game personal losing streak.

The heat reached 105 degrees on the field at Baltimore, knocking out Minnesota's Dean Chance and helping the Orioles beat the Twins.

Chance, leading 4-3, left for a pinch hitter in the seventh because of the heat but Al Worthington couldn't protect the edge. Three walks loaded the bases and Dave Johnson's pinch single plus sacrifice flies by Brooks Robinson and Curt Motton produced three runs.

Tony Oliva socked two home runs for the Twins.

Duke Sims hammered a three-run homer in the 10th, giving Cleveland its third consecutive victory over the Red Sox. Sims unloaded after two walks and the Indians added another run on Jose Cardenal's double and a single by Vern Fuller.

The Red Sox got two runs back in the bottom of the 10th but the rally fell short.

Ken Harrelson had snapped an 0-for-10 string with his 16th homer, tying it for Boston in the eighth.

Firecracker 400 Field Qualifying

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Ford's factory team sat on the sidelines Sunday, benched by technical inspections, as young Charlie Goltz and veteran Richard Petty sewed up the two front positions for the $73,000 Firecracker 400 stock car race.

Goltz, an onrushing 30-year-old newcomer from Georgetown, Ind., set nearly six miles an hour off old qualifying record as he won the pole position for the Fourth of July race with a two-lap, five-mile average of 185.156 miles an hour in a 1968 Dodge Charger.

Petty's 1968 Plymouth turned the high-banked Daytona International Speedway at an average of 183.342 to give the Randleman, N.C., driver the outside pole in the 40-car field.

The old Firecracker qualifying record of 179.802, set last year by Darel Dieringer of Charlotte, N.C., in a Ford, was broken by five of the seven drivers who qualified for Sunday's runs against the clock.

NASCAR inspectors cut the field drastically Saturday night and early Sunday when they rejected Ford's factory entries for nonconformity in ground clearance. The inspectors ruled all of the cars were too low to the ground.

The ruling temporarily grounded such drivers as A.J. Foyt, Tiny Lund and Donnie Allison. A Ford spokesman said the cars would be altered to meet the NASCAR requirements.

The altered cars could be re-inspected in time to allow the Ford drivers to qualify in runs scheduled today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Kathy Whitworth Wins Lady Carling Open

BALTIMORE (AP) — According to the Sam Snead myth, the Slammer won so much money on the golf circuit he buried some of the earnings in tin cans in the West Virginia hills.

Kathy Whitworth, whose $3,000 first prize in the $20,000 Lady Carling Open Sunday upped her career earnings to $192,678, hasn't taken to hiding money yet. But Kathy is concerned she's paralleling too closely a nonfiction portion of the Slammer's career.

"I've never won the Open," Miss Whitworth said Sunday after a final-round 73 gave her a 54-hole total of 214, a one-stroke victory over Carol Mann and her 39th career tournament title.

"People never remember how many I've won," she said. "They're beginning to say I've never won the Open... like Sam Snead."

home in the seventh inning, giving the Yankees their victory over Oakland. White's seventh homer of the year snapped a 2-2 tie.

Steve Hamilton came out of the bullpen to strike out Reggie Jackson, ending an eighth inning Oakland threat and saving the victory for Steve Barber. Jackson had homered and singled and scored the A's second run earlier.

Chuck Hinton's two-run triple helped build a four-run California first inning and the Angels coasted past Washington.

Rick Clark went five innings in 94-degree heat and earned the victory against the Senators, ending an eight-game personal losing streak.

The heat reached 105 degrees on the field at Baltimore, knocking out Minnesota's Dean Chance and helping the Orioles beat the Twins.

Chance, leading 4-3, left for a pinch hitter in the seventh because of the heat but Al Worthington couldn't protect the edge. Three walks loaded the bases and Dave Johnson's pinch single plus sacrifice flies by Brooks Robinson and Curt Motton produced three runs.

Tony Oliva socked two home runs for the Twins.

Duke Sims hammered a three-run homer in the 10th, giving Cleveland its third consecutive victory over the Red Sox. Sims unloaded after two walks and the Indians added another run on Jose Cardenal's double and a single by Vern Fuller.

The Red Sox got two runs back in the bottom of the 10th but the rally fell short.

Ken Harrelson had snapped an 0-for-10 string with his 16th homer, tying it for Boston in the eighth.

White Sox Romp over Detroit, 12-0

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

A day full of Eddie Stanky is easy to take for a ballplayer who has just had a week full of sergeants.

So Tommy John and Tom McCraw, sprung from National Guard duty by weekend passes to spend Sunday with Stanky and the White Sox, led Chicago to a 12-0 romp over Detroit.

John pitched a five-hitter for his seventh straight victory and McCraw slammed three hits including a pair of doubles and scored twice.

Elsewhere in the American League Sunday, New York

trimmed Oakland 4-2, California socked Washington 8-4, Cleveland topped Boston 7-5 in 10 innings, and Baltimore dropped Minnesota 6-4.

McCraw and John, both members of an Indiana Air National Guard unit, are halfway through their annual two-week tour of duty at Alpena, Mich. They flew to Detroit for Sunday's game.

Bill Voss and Sandy Alomar, untroubled by military problems, helped John and McCraw carry off the Detroit maneuvers. Voss walloped a grand slam home run—his third major league homer and second in two days against the Tigers—and Alomar slapped four hits, stole three bases, and scored four runs.

John, whose 7-0 record is even more impressive when you consider the White Sox' troubles this season, struck out five and walked none for his first shutout of the year.

Roy White tagged a two-run homer in the seventh inning, giving the Yankees their victory over Oakland. White's seventh homer of the year snapped a 2-2 tie.

Steve Hamilton came out of the bullpen to strike out Reggie Jackson, ending an eighth inning Oakland threat and saving the victory for Steve Barber. Jackson had homered and singled and scored the A's second run earlier.

Firecracker 400 Field Qualifying

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Ford's factory team sat on the sidelines Sunday, benched by technical inspections, as young Charlie Glotzbach and veteran Richard Petty served up the two front positions for the $73,000 Firecracker 400 stock car race.

Glotzbach, an onrushing 30-year-old newcomer from Georgetown, Ind., took nearly six miles an hour off old qualifying record as he won the pole position for the Fourth of July race with a two-lap, five-mile average of 185.156 miles an hour in a 1968 Dodge Charger.

Petty's 1968 Plymouth turned the high-banked Daytona International Speedway at an average of 183.342 to give the Randleman, N.C., driver the outside pole in the 40-car field.

The old Firecracker qualifying record of 179.802, set last year by Darrel Dieringer of Charlotte, N.C., in a Ford, was broken by five of the seven drivers who qualified for Sunday's runs against the clock.

NASCAR inspectors cut the field drastically Saturday night and early Sunday when they rejected Ford's factory entries for nonconformity in ground clearance. The inspectors ruled all of the cars were too low to the ground.

The ruling temporarily grounded such drivers as A.J. Foyt, Tiny Lund and Donnie Allison. A Ford spokesman said the cars would be altered to meet the NASCAR requirements.

The altered cars could be re-inspected in time to allow the Ford drivers to qualify in runs scheduled today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Analysts say there is evidence that thousands of North Vietnamese civilians, mobilized during the bombings to repair roads and railroads, are returning to farming.

U.S. reconnaissance has detected intensive farming on rice lands in the Red River Delta which lay fallow during the bombing period because, analysts said, the peasants were used to keep supply routes open.

For more than a year, North Vietnam reportedly has been sustained by wheat and flour shipments, mostly from the Soviet Union.

But now there are fewer food ships arriving at Haiphong and other North Vietnamese ports, the analysts said.

Cargoes observed being unloaded in North Vietnamese ports include large tonnages of fertilizer. Meanwhile, petroleum products have returned to top place, over food, in shipments landing by sea in North Vietnam.

U.S. intelligence estimates that between 150,000 and 250,000 North Vietnamese civilians have gone back to work since the current U.S. bombing limitations went into effect March 31.

Former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara repeatedly told Congress that more than 500,000 persons had been diverted by the North Vietnamese government from farming and other jobs to maintain and repair lines of communication battered by U.S. bombs and rockets.

He cited this in an effort to show how the bombing created a burden for North Vietnam, a country which always has had a marginal food supply and only a primitive industrial system. American intelligence officer reported some major permanent repairs to important facilities along lines of communication since President Johnson invoked the ban on U.S. bombing north of the 20th parallel.

The huge Doumer bridge, slammed repeatedly by U.S. bombers, was said to have been rebuilt and two shattered spans replaced.

Trains are starting to use the big bridge which crosses the Red River close to Hanoi.

Roadbeds on the bridge have been prepared for trucks, but have not yet been surfaced.

Meanwhile, sources said, the rail lines have been adapted with an adjustable third rail. This is so freight cars can roll along the entire route through China and North Vietnam without, as in the past, requiring trans-shipment of the North Viet trans-shipment of the North Vietnamese border to cars of a different gauge.

Bomb Restrictions Aid North Viets

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence reports indicate North Vietnam's food problems may be easing because much of the country is free from U.S. bombing.

Analysts say there is evidence that thousands of North Vietnamese civilians, mobilized during the bombings to repair roads and railroads, are returning to farming.

U.S. reconnaissance has detected intensive farming on rice lands in the Red River Delta which lay fallow during the bombing period because, analysts said, the peasants were used to keep supply routes open. For more than a year, North Vietnam reportedly has been sustained by wheat and wheat flour shipments, mostly from the Soviet Union.

But now there are fewer food ships arriving at Haiphong and other North Vietnamese ports, the analysts said.

Cargoes observed being unloaded in North Vietnamese ports include large tonnages of fertilizer. Meanwhile, petroleum products have returned to top place, over food, in shipments landing by sea in North Vietnam.

U.S. intelligence estimates that between 150,000 and 250,000 North Vietnamese civilians have gone back to work since the current U.S. bombing limitations went into effect March 31.

primitive industrial system. American intelligence officer reported some major permanent repairs to important facilities along lines of communication since President Johnson invoked the ban on U.S. bombing north of the 20th parallel.
